ISSHO, COME TOGETHER

Issho – meaning together in Japanese – champions dishes that are designed to be shared amongst friends and family. Enjoy authentic Japanese cuisine whilst sitting at the open kitchen counters.

Our executive chef Weike (Shane) Zhao started off her career and passion for cooking back in 2009 at a Japanese restaurant called Wafu in Melbourne, Australia. Instantly she knew she had a love for Japanese food and the flavours and colours that are created. Throwing herself into the deep end, Shane had two or three jobs on the go to ensure she gained diverse knowledge and understanding of the art of Japanese cooking.

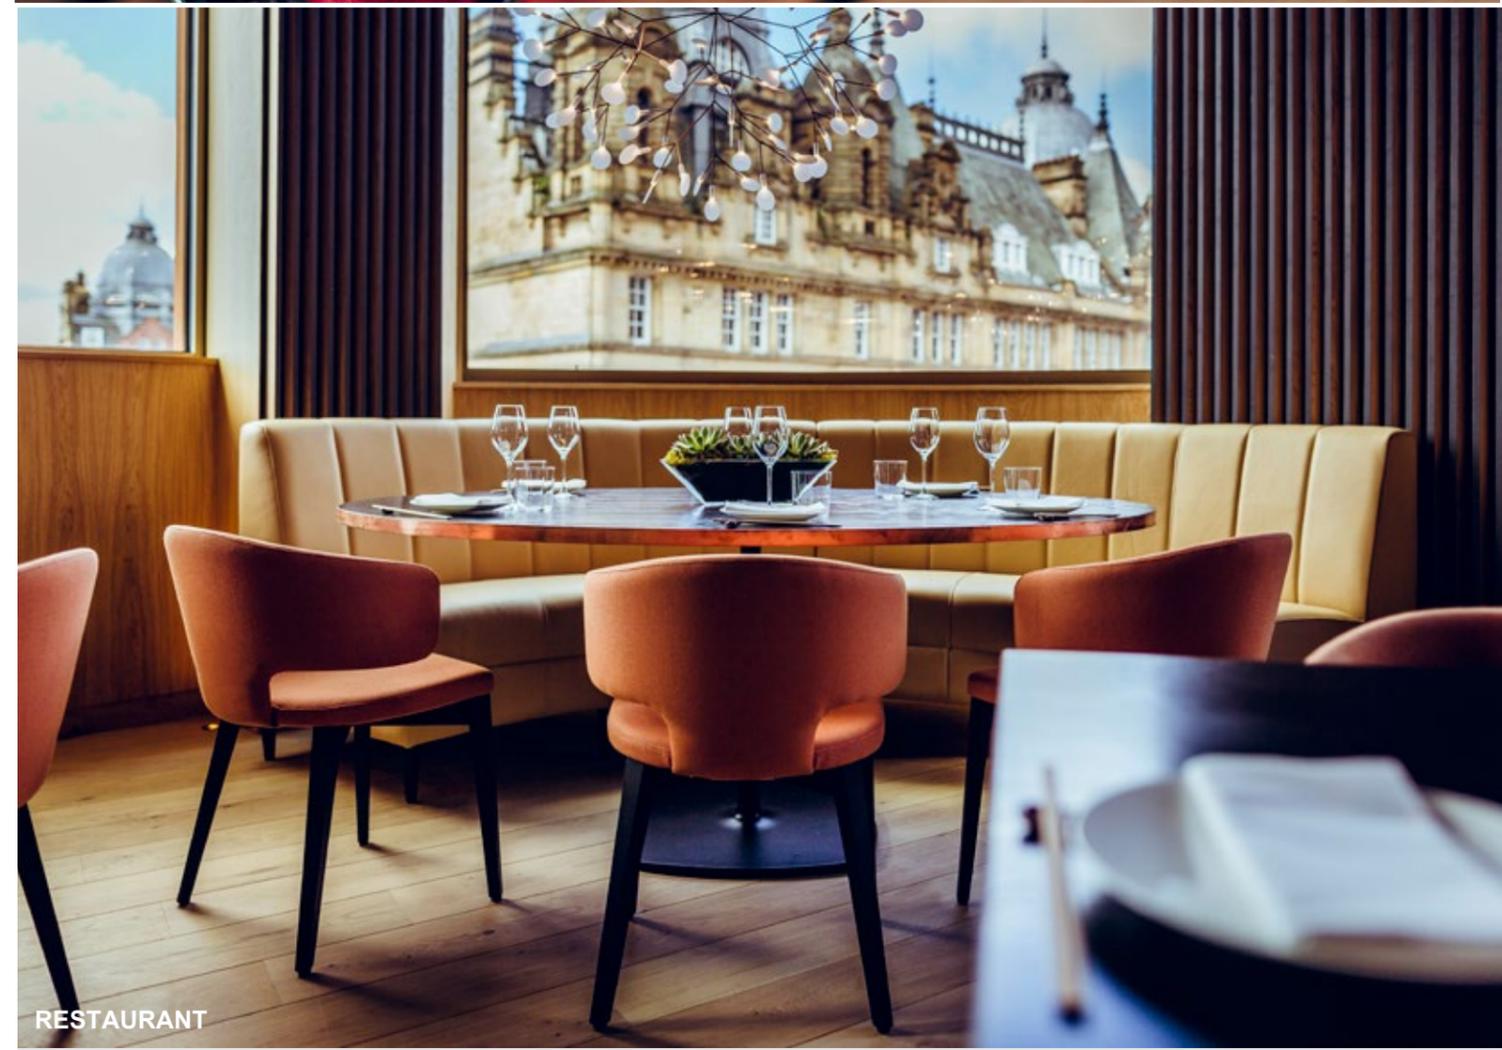

After meeting her English husband Shane relocated to the UK where she is now Issho's Head Chef and after just 6 months of opening, Shane has helped us in being placed in the Michelin Guide.

Issho is committed to offering something different and unique to Leeds.

Combining exceptional service, high quality food, unique menus and a stunning, relaxing setting, Issho is the place to come together for a truly unique dining experience.
